PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I am proud to be able to deliver the 2023/2024 President's Address for the Sport North Annual Report. I want to acknowledge and thank the many rich and diverse Indigenous and cultural groups that make up the fabric of the Northwest Territories. They have built the framework for the communities where we all are privileged to live, work, and play. The ongoing contributions made by each group are valued, appreciated and essential to our shared Territory's future.

I also want to thank the Federation's Territorial Sport Organization (TSO) membership, the volunteers, sports officials, sponsors, my fellow members of the Sport North Board, and the amazing office staff of the Federation. Your shared support and continued dedication to your sports, lift the communities you build and bring joy to the athletes and families who benefit from these wonderful opportunities.

Reflecting on the year gone by, we have witnessed remarkable achievements across all levels of sport within our jurisdiction. From grassroots initiatives that have introduced sports to the youngest members, to our Elders who continue to find joy in activity, and the outstanding performances of our elite athletes on National and International stages; our collective spirit, passion and love of sport continues to drive many to achieve their goals. These accomplishments are not just numbers in a record book; they are stories of hard work, perseverance, family support and a source of pride for all involved.

In March 2024, Team NT proudly competed in the 27th Arctic Winter Games in Mat-Su, Alaska. We are incredibly proud of their outstanding achievements, securing a total of 94 ulus and setting numerous personal bests, creating lasting memories from an exceptional Games. These Arctic Winter Games capped an extraordinary period for Team NT, with two Arctic Winter Games, as well as the Canada Summer and Winter Games, all within 18 months. The North American Indigenous Games, led by our partners at the Aboriginal Sport Circle, further highlighted the immense dedication and sacrifices made by athletes, businesses, government, and families in supporting sport. Congratulations to everyone involved.

As we look to the future, we do so with cautious optimism. With the unwavering support of our dedicated volunteers, the generosity of our sponsors, and the resilience and growth of our athletes in a post-COVID environment, we believe NWT sport will reach new heights. However, we also recognize the need to approach this journey with care. To continue delivering the opportunities our community has come to expect, we must forge deeper partnerships. The challenges facing the entire NWT community require us to make tough decisions and engage in meaningful conversations at all levels. These changes are necessary for the well-being of our athletes, their families, and our communities. This is not a warning of difficult times ahead, but rather a call to action for everyone to seek out connections, strengthen our dialogue, and embrace creativity in how we approach our work. United as a community, we will continue to inspire both the current and future generations of athletes.

In closing, I want to wish Team NT the best of luck at the Canada 55+ Games in Quebec City in August 2024. We look forward to cheering on our role models, community leaders, and unsung heroes whose shoulders we now stand on. I extend my deepest gratitude to each and every one of you for your support and commitment to Sport North. It continues to be my privilege to serve as President of the Federation, and I am grateful to all for the tireless efforts you give to support sport in the NWT. It is those acts of giving that make NWT sport the special and unique environment we cherish. I wish all the best to everyone for the year of achievements ahead.

SINCERELY,

PRESIDENT OF SPORT NORTH FEDERATION

LEADERSHIP

The Sport North AGM, held on May 26 & 27 in Yellowknife with the theme "Hope on the Horizon," exemplified strong leadership across various facets of sport development. The event began with a Friday evening presentation from Sport Law on leading an ethically driven and legally sound sport organization. This focus on leadership continued through Saturday's workshops and training sessions, which addressed major trends affecting sport, management by values, measuring culture, and quality of presence.

Demonstrating its strategic leadership, Sport North hosted a strategic planning session facilitated by Caroline Sparks, attended by 28 Sport/Affiliate Members and a total of 52 participants. Over the past fiscal year, the Sport North Board, consisting of eight members, met six times, including a comprehensive planning meeting in Inuvik attended by all staff. This consistent engagement underscores the organization's commitment to effective governance and forward-thinking leadership.

Sport North's leadership in coaching development is evident through the range of clinics offered, from entry-level to high-performance levels. These clinics include sport-specific programs and general courses provided by the National Coaching Certification Program. In partnership with the Coaching Association of Canada, Sport North promoted and provided free coaching events during National Coaches Week. Additionally, coaches from Yellowknife, Fort Providence, and Inuvik enhanced their leadership skills through the Comp Intro coach developer facilitation upgrade training, which includes a mental health component.

The She Can Coach Grant is a testament to Sport North's commitment to empowering female-identifying coaches by providing financial assistance to support their coaching pathways and education/training at all levels. These coaches are highlighted on social media and receive appreciation gifts, further reinforcing their leadership roles. Similarly, the They Can Coach program supports coaches aiming to elevate their skills, develop peer networks, and become role models for aspiring NWT coaches, including participants in the Canada Winter Games and Canada Summer Games.

To foster leadership and growth in athletes, Sport North has created processes to provide opportunities for coaches and athletes to advance to higher levels of sport. We continue to seek partnerships with Southern Colleges for identifying and recruiting NWT athletes, and we collaborate with school placement programs. A key priority is aligning with NSO's Athlete Pathway and initiating the creation and implementation of an NWT Athlete Pathway that is not sport-specific, demonstrating our commitment to holistic athlete development and leadership in sport.

OPERATIONS

Sport North is committed to ensuring the sport system has strong financial and human resources, from grassroots to high-performance participation, by continually securing long-term funding with the GNWT and discovering ways to partner with organizations within the sport sector.

Sport North enhances its operations for the benefit of the Territorial Sport Organizations and key members of the NWT sport community by developing clear roles and responsibilities for the Federation and its partner organizations. With our partners, Sport North shares knowledge, maximizes resources, and leverages opportunities and efficiencies at the community, territorial, and national levels to achieve sport sector objectives, resulting in a better-connected and coordinated sector.

Sport North represents the NWT sport community at the national level with ongoing membership in the Canadian Council of Provincial and Territorial Sport Federations and the National Trust Fund. The Federation also maintains relationships with KidSport Canada, the Coaching Association of Canada, the Canada Games Council, and Canada Sport for Life.

For a cohesive vision of the role of sport in the NWT, Sport North actively communicates with and encourages communication among all sport organizations. It advocates to ensure that the needs and interests of our Territorial Sport Organizations are clearly understood and effectively represented in national programs and initiatives. Through regular communication, Sport North's public relations efforts have established stronger relationships with partners, stakeholders, and TSOs, supporting cooperative work toward common goals within the sport sector.

CAPACITY

Sport North has been instrumental in facilitating opportunities to explore innovative programs for the benefit of its membership. One such initiative is the Common Vision – Breaking the Cycle (PHAC funded) Version 3, which concluded with a partnership with Aurora College to produce a Northern Resource (video and manual) supporting Early Years Early Childhood Educators with a strong physical literacy focus, set for release in Fall 2024.

To commemorate National Indigenous Peoples Day (June 21st), the City of Yellowknife continues to display light standard banners promoting the Truth and Reconciliation Calls to Action for Sport.
In the realm of gender equity, Sport North supported the Canadian Women in Sport poster campaign, aimed at clarifying gender equity challenges faced within NWT Sport. This campaign will be followed up in 2024-25 with actions addressing identified priorities. Additionally, strategies to build self-esteem and engage young females in sport were hosted by Girls in the Game, alongside Coach James Leath's virtual webinars on "Forging Young Men of Character."

The Inspire Through Sport leadership and mentor development program targets teenage female athletes looking to develop their skills in life and sport. This program was embraced by four self-directed girls from volleyball, badminton, soccer, and fastball.

Sport North also plays a significant role in the National LGBTQ Sport Inclusion Task Force, focusing on how the Federation can support this national initiative. Similarly, Sport North is actively involved in the National Parasport Collective, aiming to support Para Sport development within the NWT and focusing on inclusive sport environments for BIPOC, LGBTQ, and newcomers to NWT Sport.

The Women in Coaching (WiC) mentorship program, orchestrated through the Coaching Association of Canada, supports female coaches in their development. The Rising Star Program, which follows the CS4L train-to-train model, provides funding to athletes (females 11 to 15 and males 12 to 16) who exhibit potential in their sport and wish to receive additional training through a camp format.

For the first time, KidSport NWT incorporated paid ads into its marketing strategy to promote the Spring Community Equipment Grant (CEG), generating 39,622 impressions on the page in one month. By running paid ads before each Spring and Fall CEG deadline, Sport North aims to reach more communities and distribute as many grants as possible. This effort resulted in 68 successful applications from 27 teams/organizations in 12 sports, and 27 applications for the community equipment grant from eight new communities, demonstrating effective communication and outreach to smaller communities.

The second Roger Walker Annual Golf Tournament in support of KidSport, sponsored by Nahanni Construction, was held on July 7th, 2023. This 18-hole tournament offered competition and fun, with numerous auction prizes, including a “Hockey Package” which included air fair, tickets to a hockey game in Edmonton, and a room in a hotel room.

With long-standing partnerships with NWT/NU Lotteries, Canadian North, Top of the World Travel Agency, Nova Hotels, and Northwestel, Sport North consistently offers its members the best opportunities for their teams and upcoming events by developing cost-effective partnerships with the private sector, allowing for alignment of programs and events with corporate support.

PARTICIPATION AND PERFORMANCE

In the 2023-2024 period, Sport North participated in the 2024 Arctic Winter Games held in Mat-Su, Alaska, where we sent over 400 people. Rita Mercredi served as the Chef De Mission for the Arctic Winter Games, supported by Lexi Letzing and Damon Crossman as assistant chefs.

During the Arctic Winter Games, the team secured 26 gold ulus, 38 silver ulus, and 33 bronze ulus. Keira Coakwell from Hay River and Sean Grandjambe from Fort Smith led the opening ceremony as flag bearers for the volleyball team, while Corbin Alonak from Ulukhaktok represented wrestling as the flag bearer for the closing ceremony.

We were thrilled to announce that Team NT achieved a historic milestone by winning the gold ulu in female basketball for the first time since the games' inception in 1970. This remarkable feat was a testament to the relentless efforts and commitment of the female basketball team, including coaches, athletes, and volunteers.

Additionally, Shawna McLeod claimed the stick pull gold ulu in the open women's category, a new age group introduced at the Arctic Winter Games. Despite the long wait for this category, McLeod's achievement was a source of immense pride for us.

SOCIAL MEDIA

To enhance the communication with our members' and the public, Sport North uses social media to promote events, results and success throughout the NWT.

Along with our presence on social media, the Federation continues to provide success stories via traditional avenues. All these opportunities allow the Federation the opportunity to share our members inspiring stories and lessons learned.

SOCIAL MEDIA

This year, we executed several social media campaigns. One notable campaign was "NWT Sport Strong: The South Steps Up," launched during an evacuation that impacted a significant part of the Territory. We encouraged individuals to share their stories of training in the south during the evacuations, resulting in fantastic submissions for posting. Additionally, we placed a strong emphasis on promoting the Arctic Winter Games, covering aspects from passport preparation to the games themselves.
